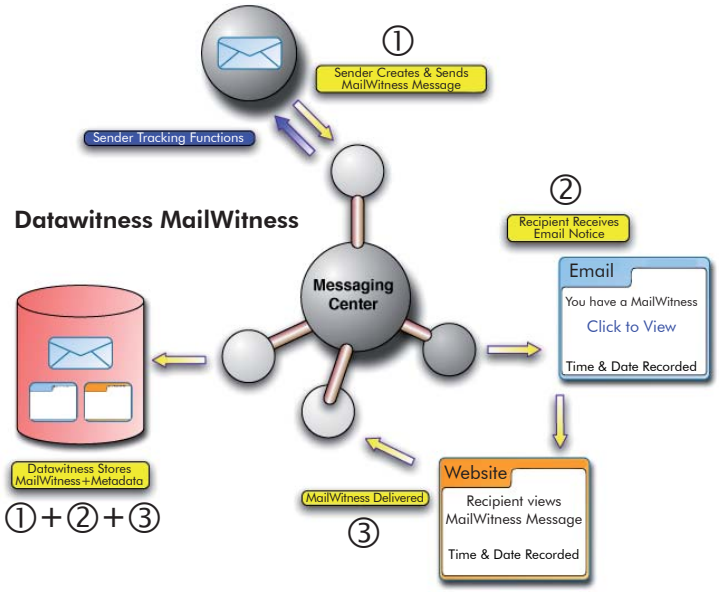
Mailwitness™– Secure, Fast, and Archived

Protect & Track Important Communications

Send secure communications to one or many recipients via the Internet. Verify receipt and track whether recipients are opening and viewing your communications. MailWitness captures the content and context of communications between parties into an archived record.

The record's time and date stamped audit trail establishes an independent and witnessed timeline for high value communications which require proof of delivery and receipt.

MailWitness document delivery allows you to send notices and messages to parties quickly, anywhere there is Internet access. If a recipient can receive email and browse the web, they can read your communication and any attached files.



Fast Communications With Easy Tracking And Complete Audit Trail

Reduce costs through less use of document delivery services like couriers or postal registered mail.

Send and monitor important messages and notices without leaving your desk.

Manage the process from your computer via your web-based control panel.

Audit trail record captures time and date a message is sent, when an email notice is accepted by the receiving server, and when recipients view the actual message.

Track delivery and receipt of messages, and downloads of file attachments.

Preserve unalterable and tamperproof record of MailWitness contents and delivery timeline.
